

GEORGIA
Penal Code.
Special Part
Section Seven
Crime Against Human Being
Chapter XIX. Crime Against Life

Article 112. Infanticide with Malice Aforethought

Premeditated murder of an infant by the mother during or immediately after delivery, shall be punishable by imprisonment up to five years in length.

Chapter XX. Crime Against Health

Article 117. Intentional Damage to Health

1. Intentional damage to health, i.e., bodily injury which is dangerous or has given rise to ... miscarriage ... or such ill-health which is dangerous for life ... shall be punishable by imprisonment extending from one to eight years in length.
2. The same action perpetrated:
 - a) against two or more persons;
 - b) against a pregnant woman known to be so by the perpetrator; ...
 - d) against a minor person being in a helpless condition ...shall be punishable by imprisonment ranging from five to twelve years in length.

Chapter XXI. Exposing Life or Health of Human Being to Danger

Article 127. Exposing Human Life to Danger

Exposing the life a person to danger who can not take measures to protect oneself, shall be punishable by fine or by prison sentence not in excess of two years in length.

Article 133. Illegal Abortion

1. The illegal abortion shall be punishable by fine or by socially useful labour extending from one hundred to two hundred and forty hours or by corrective labour from one to two years in length.
2. The same action perpetrated by the person previously convicted of illegal abortion or of something that, through negligence has resulted in the permanent loss of childbearing or has given rise to any other grave consequence, shall be punishable by restriction of freedom for up to three years in length or by jail time up to three months in length or by imprisonment for the term not exceeding three years, by deprivation of the right to occupy a position or pursue a particular activity for up to three years in length.

Source: Georgia Criminal Code, 15 February 2000: <http://www.refworld.org/docid/404c5dc11.html>

[Jacobson note: From 1921 to 1991, the policy on abortion for Georgia was governed by the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, which authorized abortion on request from 1920 to 1936, for limited reasons between 1936 and 1955, and again on request from 1955.]